3. Don't Say Why You're Calling: Sometimes, the system is designed to give you automated solutions. If you state your reason (e.g., "flight change"), it may keep you in the automated loop. Instead, stay vague or immediately request an agent.
4. Use the Correct Menu Option: If the "zero" trick doesn't work, listen carefully. For booking changes, you might need to go through the reservations menu. For billing, select that option. The fastest way to a human is often through the sales or new bookings menu, as they are staffed to handle revenue-generating calls.

8. Language Options: If you are bilingual, selecting a language other than English (like Japanese or Spanish) might connect you to an agent faster, who can then transfer you to an English-speaking colleague.
