What is Fioricet (Butalbital) Used For?

Fioricet is a combination medication designed to treat acute, moderate to severe headaches. It contains a blend of butalbital (a barbiturate), acetaminophen (a pain reliever), and caffeine. This synergy enhances the medication's potency in addressing various types of pain:

2. Migraines: The medication's analgesic and anti-inflammatory effects assist in reducing migraine severity and frequency.

3. Arthritis and fibromyalgia pain: Fioricet's combination of ingredients can provide relief for chronic pain associated with these conditions.
